Anti-Spam

Product Information

Spam continues to plague computer users, with research revealing that 92.3% of all email was spam during the first quarter of 2008. Vox Datapro has a range of anti-spam solutions, from the protection of a single email user to dedicated corporate hosted solutions.

The IronPort email security appliances are the most sophisticated systems available today. In operation at eight of the 10 largest Internet Service Providers (ISPs) and more than 20% of the world's largest enterprises, these systems have demonstrated record levels of unparalleled security and reliability.
